Some Protection Offered Organic Food Consumers

Many persons on a health food kick are developing that uncertain feeling that they are being bilked when they buy "organically grown" fruits and vegetables.

Their suspicion is justified, according to some authorities. An estimated 10 million people will spend between $40 and $80 million this year on foods sold as "organically grown" or "organically processed." Half of all this money is spent on food not organically produced at all. In addition to being more expensive it is often inferior in quality and usually less fresh than the non-organic stuff you get at the supermarket.

If you have qualms, so does the organic retailer and wholesaler. They have no way of knowing if it's truly organic. Not even the farmer knows for sure.

But maybe the farmer is as sure as he is willing to be because there are no rules or definitions regarding the burgeoning organic food industry.

Or at least there hasn't been. Now there is a bill in the U.S. Senate under the authorship of Alan Cranston which will, for the first time, set guidelines.

Cranston's bill, in addition to defining "organically grown" and "organically processed" foods and supplements under the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act, directs FDA to set standards under which food can be advertised or distributed as "organic" and to prescribe labeling requirements.

It also calls for federal registration of all farms and food processing plants marketing organic foods and bans the use of "organic," "organically grown" or "organically processed" by non-registered farms.

Twice a year inspections by FDA will be made of organic food farms and processors.

To help correct the organic food fraud, the bill defines organically grown food as "food which has not been subjected to pesticides or artificial fertilizers, and which has been grown in soil whose humus content is increased by the addition of organic matter."

Organically processed food is defined as "food which in its processing has not been treated with preservatives, hormones, antibiotics or synthetic additives of any kind."

Certain standards will be established under direction of FDA. Before foods can be advertised or distributed as "organic" they must meet regulations covering minimal humus and mineral content of the soil in which the food was grown; maximum permissible residues of pesticides in the soil and on the food, and sources of water used in food production.

Cranston said there are a great number of California farmers who would immediately qualify under his bill's requirements. He said his bill would protect these farmers against "unfair competition by those who seek to take advantage of the rising interest in organic foods by mislabeling their products."

All of this may be a way back for the small family farmer. Cranston noted that these operators are in a better position to compete for the specialty organic market because they do not need expensive pesticides and mass producing farm machinery.

'Bye Bye Birdie' Set By Helix Summer Workshop

"Bye Bye Birdie" will return to the Helix Summer Musical Workshop this summer, after a five-year absence, under the direction of John A. Kay.

"Bye Bye Birdie" revolves about two stories — the romance of composer-agent Albert Peterson and his secretary, Rosie Alvarez, and the drafting into the Army of their great rock and roll star, Conrad Birdie.

When they, along with Mae Peterson, Albert's domineering mother, descend on a small Ohio town, the complications are hilarious.

Producer Philip Patton said he has assembled an excellent cast for the production. Jerry Snow will play Albert Peterson; Lynn Gerstein as Rosie Alvarez; Teresa Nugent as Mae; Dave Chandler as the patient Mr. MacAfee; Holly Southern as the understanding Mrs. MacAfee.

Also appearing in leading roles will be Kathy Hammond as Kim MacAfee; Robert Connors as Randolph MacAfee;

Marijuana Charged In SV Arrest

Elzy H. Cantwell, 19, of 814 Sacramento st., Spring Valley, was arrested along with a 17-year-old companion at 2:30 a.m. Friday morning and charged with possession of marijuana.

According to reports from the Sheriff's Department, the suspect vehicle was observed to run through a stop sign, stop in the middle of the intersection there and stall. It resumed traveling and was stopped a few moments later at the corner of Paraiso ave. and St. George.

Deputies contacted the suspects for a verbal warning on the traffic violation, and noticed a strong odor of burned marijuana. At that point, the suspects were arrested and a search of the vehicle ensued. The search netted approximately 1/4-ounce of marijuana in a plastic bag.

Cantwell, owner and driver of the vehicle, was booked in county jail, and the juvenile was released to his parents.

SV Builder's Emporium is Theft Victim

Builder's Emporium, a hardware and builder's supply store at 543 Sweetwater rd., Spring Valley, was the victim of a theft last Wednesday afternoon.

The suspect in the case, a male Negro, about 25 years old, reportedly approached a cashier in the store, presenting an item for purchase and a ten dollar bill.

After the cashier had rung up the order and the cash drawer was opened, the suspect said "let me give you something smaller," pulling out a handful of coins. While counting out the amount for the purchase, the suspect dropped several coins on the cashier's side of the counter.

The cashier picked up the coins, and when she returned her attention to the subject, noticed him to quickly pull his hand away from the open cash drawer.

After completing the transaction, the cashier was approached by a second male Negro, who asked whether or not the store carried toilet paper. After the second subject left the store, the cashier became suspicious and reported the incident. It was determined that $80 was missing from the cash drawer.

La Mesa Youth Arrested in SV On 'Pot' Charge

A 14-year-old La Mesa youth was arrested last Thursday morning and charged with possession of marijuana and possession of marijuana paraphernalia.

The youngster was observed by deputies on routine patrol hitchhiking near the intersection of Jamacha and Sweetwater rds., according to reports from the Sheriff's Department. Deputies noted a pair of surgical scissors, commonly used as a "roach clip", attached to the subject's belt.

Upon contact with the subject, deputies examined the scissors, denoting an odor of burned marijuana. It was also noticed that the youth carried a pipe in his shirt pocket, which upon examination, was found to contain a "roach", or the butt of a marijuana cigarette, according to reports.

The suspect was then placed under arrest for possession of marijuana paraphernalia and a routine pat search for weapons was conducted. In one of the suspect's pockets was found a plastic bag containing approximately one ounce of marijuana, and the possession of marijuana charge was added.

San Diego Park Sought

L.G. Planners To Seek San Diego Park Site

By John Nicholson

The executive committee of the Lemon Grove Planning Association, at its meeting last Thursday night, agreed to attempt to secure a 17.94-acre parcel for park development, working together with the Broadway Heights Community Council.

The proposal, met with stringent opposition by many of the over 60 residents of Lemon Grove and San Diego attending the meeting, calls for changing an application for HUD funds, requesting that the funds be used for the 17.94-acre parcel, rather than the six-acre site originally requested.

The six-acre site, one of a few locations selected for an HUD grant, is located at Mt. Vernon and Massachusetts in Lemon Grove. The larger parcel is located a couple of blocks away, within the San Diego city limits.

Several complications in the site change brought opposition to the measure.

The site may not be usable under the HUD grant, and the change could delay HUD contracts for as much as 90 days, as title reports and appraisals must be made.

The larger site has been criticized as less desirable because it is not very level and would cost more money to prepare as a park. Proponents of the larger park indicated that it could be obtained, however, for a small enough sum to be covered by the HUD grant, which provides money on a matching basis, with half of the money raised on a local level.

Another problem involved in securing local funding by the formation of a service area.

A service area can be formed by a sponsoring group requesting the board of supervisors to form the service area, which taxes local property owners.

It was estimated that a tax rate of 11 cents per $100 assessed valuation would be needed to build the park, with an additional tax of two or three cents needed to provide maintenance costs for the park, once constructed.

The planning association has requested that a service area consisting of the Lemon Grove Planning Area be formed, but the new park site would require that additional area would be included, as the site is not contained in the planning area.

At Thursday's meeting, it was agreed to request that the College Crest area be added to the service area.

In forming a service area, hearings are held, and if enough opposition to the plan is presented, an election must be held to determine whether or not it will be formed.

When the original plan was presented for the six-acre site, a small amount of opposition was evident, as residents of the eastern part of the planning association area wanted a more centrally located park. The major reason that was given to those opponents was that the HUD funds were only for that particular park site.

With the site change approved, that reasoning is destroyed, and violent opposition can be expected. Opponents of the proposal will want to know why residents of Lemon Grove will be taxed to construct a park in San Diego.

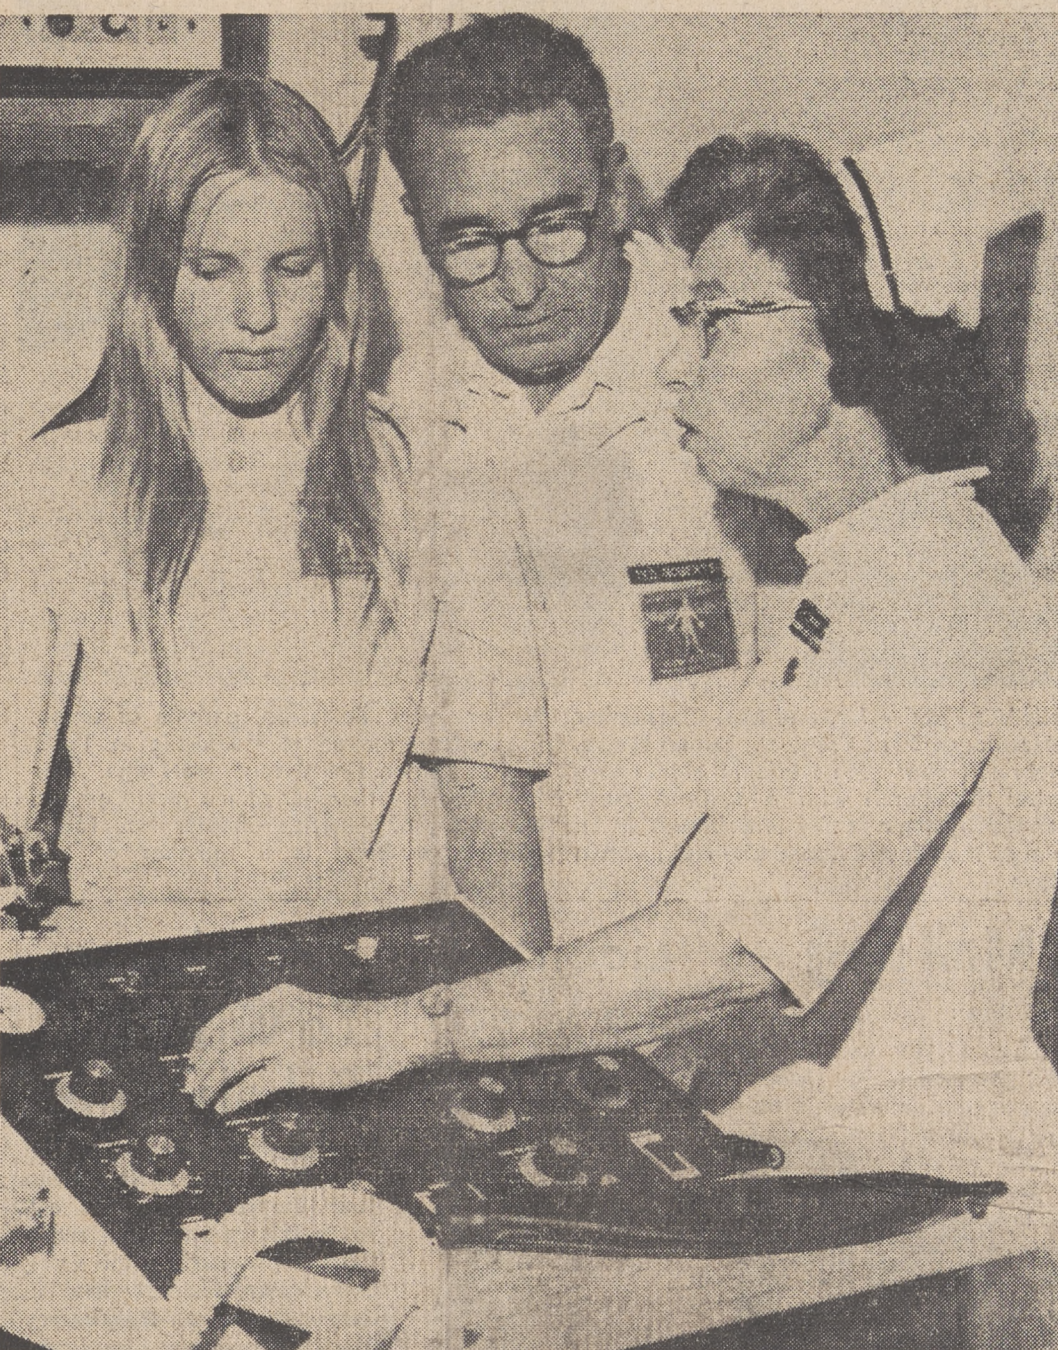

Another issue that complicates and clouds the proposal is that of racial prejudices. The Broadway Heights Community Council is a coalition of blacks and whites from the area in which the larger site is located.

Because of the large number of black residents in the Broadway Heights area, the park would be used largely by blacks, which may bring opposition.

Opponents of the larger park site, though not opposed because of racial reasons, are branded as racists, which causes polarization of the groups involved with seeking the construction of the park.

With polarization and name calling already in evidence, the park project could become nearly a political-type battle.

Spring Valley Water Rates Up About 7 1/2%

The cost of drinking is going up in Spring Valley. So is the cost of bathing — and lawn watering.

Water, for whatever it is being used, will cost Spring Valley residents about 55 cents more each month.

The average household bill for the Otay Water District is about $7.50 a month so the cost of water is increased 7 1/2 per cent. The bills are issued every two months, however.

Alex Struthers, district assistant general manager said the water cost increase is the first in two years.

The Otay board of directors approved a budget of $4,757,000 for the coming year — about 50 per cent more than last year's budget of $3,010,570. Struthers said the budget would be funded from water and sewer revenues.

Operating expenditures have been set at $2,608,000. Cost of water and sewer construction is placed at $1,746,430. A major portion of the construction costs involve many smaller projects. A larger one is a $400,000 extension of Otay's system to provide water to Tijuana under an international agreement between U. S. and Mexico, according to Struthers. Fees for this project have been paid by Mexico in advance, he said.

It is the sixth year that the District has not had a general fund tax for operation. New capital budget items are financed from cash deposits and fees from developers or existing bond funds from the sale of general obligation bonds, he said.

Because the district is growing, with more money coming in and more assessed valuation on which to spread the tax load, the debt retirement rate is falling. The current rate ranged from nothing to as much as $1.50 for each $100 assessed valuation. But that rate is "plummeting downward," Struthers said. In La Presa, six years ago, there was a debt retirement rate of $4.50. Today it is about $1.25 he added.

By a comparison of a sort, Helix Irrigation District has a tax rate of 17.8 cents for each $100 in value.

Sups Can Control Land Sales Made By Assessor's Employees

The County Board of Supervisors has the authority to set controls on land speculation by employees of the County Assessor's office, the State Attorney has ruled.

Fifteen employees of the assessor's staff were involved in 420 property transactions over a 10-year period, it was revealed last year.

County Assessor Charles Williams said at the time that there was nothing illegal about the transactions.

should make public their land dealings to avert any appearance of wrongdoing or conflict between their jobs as evaluators of property and their speculative sideline.

The assessor receives a report on his employee's real estate transactions each year but the report is not made public. Williams said he would make the list public only if ordered to do so by a state authority.

The attorney general's office said there was no restriction at present in assessor's employees dealing in property transactions.

LG Crusade Goal Listed

Lemon Grove United Crusade community chairman Robert L. Guest has approved the local 1972 goal of $12,415. The annual fund drive in support of more than 70 county-wide agencies will kick-off on September 27.

In a statement this week regarding the goal figure, Guest said: "Although this goal represents an increase of $2,420 over the amount raised in Lemon Grove last year, I believe it is realistic and obtainable. In past campaigns we were not as well organized at an early date as we are this year and because of this could only concentrate on selected areas of our community. This year we will cover the entire area for contributions which should make a big difference."

This community goal figure and all other community and division increases throughout San Diego County are in line with the attempt by the United Crusade this year to raise $1 million more than was raised countywide in 1971. $6.9 million is the overall goal.

Seven communities comprising the East County area of San Diego have a combined goal of $232,794 which is $44,417 more than was totaled last year.

Contract Awarded For Second Phase Work

The proposed Spring Valley Community Park moved another step toward reality last week when the San Diego County Board of Supervisors awarded a contract for the second phase of construction on the 4.25 acre parcel near Sweetwater and Jamacha blvd.

A $24,905 contract was awarded to Valley Crest Landscaping, Inc., of San Diego, for the construction of an automatic irrigation system, drinking fountains, installation of park benches and a park sign, and planting of lawns, small trees, and shrubs.

According to Herb Ketell, park chairman of the Spring Valley Park and Recreation District advisory board, the contract represented a savings of over $8,000 over budgeted amounts, with the savings to be utilized for construction and installation of further refinements of the park. The construction of the park is funded by the park and recreation district out of tax monies.

Ketell indicated that the 20-cent per $100 assessed valuation tax rate for the park fund, which property owners in Spring Valley have been paying for the past ten years, will not be increased.

Further refinement of the park, according to Ketell, will include the planting of large shade trees, installation of said toilet facilities, a children's play area complete with slides, swings, and other equipment, an artistic colorful water fountain, and a sound stage.

At a meeting of the advisory board last week, Ketell reported, discussion of those facilities was held. Exactly how much money will be needed to cover the additions is not known right now, he said, but it was agreed at the meeting to set up a study to determine how much additional money will be required.

The recreation district is now seeking donations of money, materials, equipment, and workers to complete the additional projects, which Ketell indicated would hopefully be ready when the park opens in late September or early October.

Mail Bag

Dear Editor:

Apparently the United States government has chosen to ignore the enlightened example of the vast majority of the IMF nations and to imitate the gold laws of two non-IMF nations — U.S.S.R. and Communist China.

Non-ownership of gold permits politicians, whom we elect, to produce — by deficit financing — all the dollars they want to remain popular and be re-elected. If our citizens could own and trade in monetary gold, the inflationary bubble, and the embezzlement of life savings it creates, would burst and there would no longer be a "monetary crisis." The politicians' spending could be controlled!

If you really wish to stop inflation, write to your Congressmen and to the Secretary of the Treasury asking them to legalize ownership of gold by all citizens.

Sincerely,
C. C. Moseley,

Scout Troops Involved In Summer Camp

More than 165 Scout troops from this area will be at Mataguay Scout Reservation and Camp Hual-Cu-Cuish this summer as a part of a year-round camping program in the San Diego County Council, Boy Scouts of America, according to James Orsborn, chairman of the camping committee.

An additional 15 troops have secured permits for camping out of Council for their long-term camping program.

While each troop is taking part in its weeklong camping experience, the Scouts have an opportunity to practice many of the educational activities that are a part of the total Scouting program, Orsborn said.

"The traditional strengths of Scouting, which will continue to be important parts of the improved Scouting program to be launched in the San Diego County Council next September, are most effective in summer camp," Orsborn said.

The camping chairman explained that one of the most important strengths is the patrol method which gives boys an opportunity to learn how to get along with others by actually running their troop through the troop leaders' council.

He also pointed out that the traditional boy-man relationship provides the opportunity for the Scoutmaster to be a coach and counselor and that Scouting ideals are used as a personal challenge to boys while they are in camp as when they are at home.

Drag Racing Battle Due Fri. and Sat.

Southern California drag racing fans may witness a confrontation in the "fiercest feud" in the sport when Don "Big Daddy" Garlits makes a rare Southland appearance and Don "the Snake" Prudhomme comes home to meet him in the 1972 edition of the U. S. Professional Dragster Championship at Orange County International Raceway Friday and Saturday.

Should they meet in the Pro Dragster Assn. meet, it would be a classic confrontation, matching the acknowledged "King of the Strip" (Garlits) against his chief challenger for the throne (Prudhomme).

Convinced that "It's just a matter of time" before he defeats the 40-year-old Garlits, Prudhomme, seldom gets a shot at the "Snake" in front of the Snake's partisans.

Prudhomme has said he will be No. 1 in just five years and the determined Garlits says, "No way." He plans to be racing much longer than that.

Qualifying for the two-day meet begins at 5 p.m. Friday, July 21 and continues at 9 a.m. Saturday. Eliminations for the 32-car top fuel field, the 16-car funny car field and the 16-car combo eliminator field, begin at 6 p.m. Saturday.

Greg Morris, star of the "Mission Impossible" television series, will serve as Grand Marshal.

For the first time, local authorities will permit self-contained camper vehicles to camp overnight Friday in the raceway parking lot. The grounds are limited to self-contained vehicles only.

Plumbers Win Only Game, Claim Flag

Easter Plumbing, the team that came from all but out of the pennant race to a commanding hold on first place two weeks ago, won its only game last week to grab the Spring Valley Bobby Sox League championship.

The Plumbers, in second place behind red-hot Speedy 7-11 Mac's Drive in two weeks ago, moved into first place when Speedy/Mac's dropped two games in one week, ending a fourteen-game winning streak.

The losses for Speedy, combined with a trio of wins by the Plumbers, moved the champions into a commanding position, with only a victory or a Speedy/Mac's loss needed for the Easter pennant.

And the Plumbers picked up the victory Wednesday over Wilford's Financial Center, 17-4, on Tami Ribby's three-hitter.

The victory enabled the Plumbers to avoid playing a make-up of an earlier rainout, and made all Speedy/Mac's efforts fruitless.

Although the game meant little, Speedy/Mac's topped SD Linen Supply later in the week, allowing Debbie Whitley to set a new league record of 152 strike-outs in a season. Miss Whitley, twirling for Speedy/Mac's, fanned a dozen batters in the final game of the season.

In other games, Sportland topped Lomita Bowl, 17-0 on Beth Kelley's one-hit shutout, and Woman's Club romped over Robin Hood Auto Sales, 18-15.

With the league title decided, the minor league all-star team began practice for post-season tournament to be held at Lemon Grove Junior High School. Spring Valley's team will draw a bye in the first round, and will play Sunday against the winner of the Lemon Grove-Jamacha Hills contest at 6 p.m.

Fashionettes Top Orioles In 'Sox Playoff Game

Though the Len's of Lemon Grove Fashionettes and the Severin, Garzenelli and Stenbeck Orioles tied for first place after regular season play in the Lemon Grove Loby Sox League, the Fashionettes are wearing the league title after last week's playoff game.

The playoff game, won by the Fashionettes, 14-12, was played instead of a three-game playoff series which was originally announced, as a three-game set would have interfered with all-star practice.

In the first inning of the championship encounter, the Fashionettes leaped away to a 3-0 lead, as Lisa Cuadras belted a double. The Orioles battled back to take a 4-0 lead in the second inning, but the Fashionettes regained the three-run lead in the bottom of the second by tallying four times.

Andrea Corrao and Anna Ledesma hit two-baggers for the Fashionettes in that inning.

The Orioles chipped away at the lead in the third inning with a pair of runs, making it 7-6 as the fourth inning got underway. The Orioles took an 8-7 lead in the fourth, but the Fashionettes exploded for five runs in the bottom of the inning to take a commanding 12-8 lead.

In the fifth frame, the Fashionettes appeared to have the game in hand as they tallied twice to make it 14-8. In the sixth inning, neither team scored.

In the seventh inning, the Orioles came roaring back, scoring four runs, but fell short.

With the championship decided, the league held its annual awards dinner Saturday night, with pennant and trophies awarded to the championship teams. The Fashionettes received the major league pennant, and the Lemon Grove Chrysler-Plymouth Crickets took home the minor league flag.

Sponsor certificates were given to team sponsors, and good sportsmen trophies were awarded to the Lido's Pizza Pipers and LG Orthodontics Smilers. Rounding out presentations were trophies awarded to the major and minor all-star team members.

All-star practice, which took place last week, will continue through this week in preparation for Saturday's first game, to be played at the Lemon Grove Junior High School field at 4 p.m. featuring minor league stars from area leagues.

Saturday's first contest will pit Chula Vista against Valley Mesa and will be followed at 6 p.m. by the South Bay-Del Mar contest. The third and final contest of the day will be between Lemon Grove and Jamacha Hills, getting underway at 8 p.m.

Games will also be played at 4, 6, and 8 p.m. Sunday, and will continue at 6 and 8 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, until a champion is determined in the double-elimination tournament.

Lemon Grove stars are: Pam Barnett, Cassie Beyer, Susan Bierly, Teri Collinge, Venesa and Yvonne Cuadras, Teri Deane, Susan Erault, Barbara Holder, Andrea Jackson, Debra McQuillen, Terry Nicholas, Kathy O'Brien, Joanna Patterson, and Susan Stinchcomb.

This week marks the second session of summer camping at the facility. Current registration figures show a total of 388 girls for the six sessions, which will run through August 27. Camp director Karen Koeder indicated that there are still a few vacancies for the third and fifth sessions.

Great 'Old Timers' Signed As Part of Doubleheader In Stadium Games Aug. 18

More than thirty baseball greats have been invited to participate in the first Old-Timers Game at San Diego Stadium Friday night Aug. 18.

The Old-Timers Game will precede the regularly scheduled contest between the Padres and the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The format of the game will match Pacific Coast League All-Stars against National League All-Stars.

Larry French, a San Diego resident and a former major league All-Star himself, is chairman of the game.

French has invited such Pacific Coast League stars as Luke Easter, Max West, Bobby Doerr, Chuck Connors, Joe Gordon and Vince DiMaggio to participate.

Among the National League stars invited are Carl Hubbell, Babe Herman, Ducky Medwick, Don Newcombe, Lloyd Waner, Stan Heck and Stan Musial.

Casey Stengel and Frankie Frisch, two of baseball's most memorable names, have been invited to manage the teams.

"Never before have so many famous players been brought together for a game in San Diego," French said. "The Padres, for their first Old-Timers Game, are attempting to provide San Diego fans with moments and memories they never will forget."

French points out, for instance, that the pitchers invited (Newcombe, John Linnell, Don Larsen, Lefty Gomez, French and Hubbell) represent 877 wins in 70 major league seasons.

Many San Diegans quickly will recall the Pacific Coast League heroics of Easter, who has been invited from his Cleveland home, Doerr, who now lives in Oregon, and West.

And there will be the opportunity to revive old memories, or to see for the first time the swing of a Musial, the delivery of a Newcombe and the fielding of a Gordon. Also a complete umpiring crew, each an honored name of the past, has been invited.

Make-ups To Untangle SV Little League Race

A three-way tie for first place will be decided next week and one of four teams will win the Spring Valley Little League championship.

In last week's action, Berg Electric and Luigi's Restaurant each split doubleheaders, while Loyal Order of the Moose swept two games, creating a three-way tie for the title after regulation play.

Berg or Luigi's could have won the title outright by sweeping their games, but each team lost once, giving Moose Lodge a chance to break into the first place tie. The other team, S & H Martinizing, will have a chance to join the other three when the team plays a make-up of an earlier tie with Jackson Supply.

The schedule shows S&H and Jackson squaring off Monday. Should S & H win, added weight will be evident when the team takes on Moose Lodge in a make-up of an earlier rainout game.

On Tuesday, Luigi's and Berg Electric will do battle in a rainout make-up, with the winner either taking the title or advancing to a playoff spot. On Wednesday, Moose Lodge will play a make-up with S & H.

The entire spectrum of the playoff will hinge on whether or not S & H can claim victory in the first make-up. If S & H wins the game, which will last only as many innings as necessary to determine a winner, the team will have a shot at the pennant. If not, they will play the role of the spoiler against Moose Lodge.

The first game could end after one inning, as the game is a continuation of a tie game, so all innings will be played as extra innings.

Should S & H beat Jackson, the winners of the next two games will meet in the playoff game Friday, which would pit either Moose or S & H against either Berg or Luigi's.

Should S & H lose to Jackson, then the winner of the Berg-Luigi's game would either play Moose Lodge or earn the title without the playoff game, depending on who wins the S & H-Moose Lodge game.

Moose Lodge and Berg Electric are the favorites for the title, as both teams have played excellent ball the past three weeks against top competition.

In last week's action, Moose Lodge blitzed Dial Finance twice, 9-5 and 9-3, despite heavy hitting by Dial. In the first loss, Ronny Fults and Richard Schlemmer each had triples for Dial, and Fults blasted a double and Chuck Meyer ripped a triple for Dial in the second game.

Moose Lodge scored five runs in the second inning of the second game to remove doubts about the outcome of the game, which sent the Moose into the first place tie.

Berg Electric split a pair with Post Office, winning 10-2 and losing 3-2. Robert Madrid led the winners at the plate in the first game with four hits in as many trips to the plate. Jim Murray struck out 12 for Post Office in the second game and shut off a rally in the fourth inning to save the game, stranding three Berg runners on the bags.

Luigi's Pizza started off slow, losing to Jackson Supply, 4-3, on superb pitching by Tony Richards with relief help from Kevin Eland. Richards struck out 10 and gave up only 2 hits before yielding to Eland, who eventually got the win. Luigi's held a 3-2 lead as the bottom of the final inning rolled around, but Jackson tallied twice for the win.

In the second game, another see-saw battle loomed, as he game was tied at 10-10 as the bottom of the last inning came up, with Luigi's batting. The Pizza-Makers rallied for a single run to claim the victory.

In the only other game, S & H Martinizing swept Kiwanis, 15-6 and 7-0.

In the intermediate league, it was home run week, as Tim Sundahl, Alan Bostwick, and Kevin Tribble all hit homers and Mike Madrid rode two out of the park. Madrid, batting for Quick Way Construction, provided the margin of victory for his team over Boosters with one of his blasts. Tribble's clout was more spectacular, as it was a grand slam, although his Boosters teammates fell short.

The final standings in the intermediate loop show Mission Bay Concrete wearing the title.

In the minor league, Stroh's Lomita Bowl won a pair of games to seal the pennant. Stroh's was beaten only once on the season.

In the rookie league, Jackson Supply won a showdown battle with Support Our POW's to claim the flag.

O'Halloran Whips Scott; Lewis to Fight Friday

If Victor Scott, listed as a heavyweight boxer and whose more believable statistics are his height and weight (6'3½ and 211), hit his opponent with any authority in Friday night's feature engagement at San Diego's Coliseum, we failed to see it.

His opponent was Jack O'Halloran (6'6" and 240) who clobbered Scott at will. Scott had said publicly that he would finish O'Halloran in the 5th round. O'Halloran told this reporter privately that he would finish Scott in the third. O'Halloran knocked Scott out after nine seconds of the third round after smacking Scott at wins against only four losses. He lost a 15-rounder to Jose Napoles in LA last December.

Marquez, from Ensenda, upset highly rated Fraser Scott in 1970 and moved to as high as 7th in the junior middleweight division.

Tickets are scaled at $3-$5 and $7. Prelims start at 8 p.m. after nine seconds of the third round after smacking Scott at will with a barrage of loop rights and a series of left hooks.

Scott's eyes were so badly put that referee Bobby Rings stopped the fight right on O'Halloran's announced schedule.

In his dressing room O'Halloran complained that sports writers charged that he had no "killer instinct". "If those (bleep) want blood, I'll give it to them," he said. He was referring to a coming fight with either Henry Clark, California state heavyweight champion or Ken Norris, who was just listed among the nation's top 10 heavyweights.

O'Halloran didn't make it clear whether the blood would be his or his opponent's since both of them won decisions over him in Coliseum fights this year.

'Cactus Flower' Is Just for Fun

If you can relax as you do while watching television, you'll have fun at Off Broadway's current attraction "Cactus Flower".

Written by Abe Burrows, himself a heavy-minded comedian, and directed by his son James, the 15-scene comedy stars Virginia Mayo as an attractive middle-aged woman who is converted from a prim and proper dentist's nurse to an almost lustful man-hunter.

Tod Andrews fills his role as a lecherous bachelor dentist extremely well. So do Flora Plumb, the dentist's young mistress and Aron Kincaid, the dentist's rival for Miss Plumb.

Falling far short, we thought, was Sanley Myron Handelman, who low-keyed his role — a role that required considerable more gusto than he was willing to give it.

And there was a genuine 14K floozie played by Dee Ann Johnston. Her performance was so flawless that she dominated much of the show although she only appeared spasmodically.

In all, it is a fun show and a welcome relief from the more serious problems that occupy the minds of many.

Miss Mayo gave a slick performance. The show's title comes from the symbolic conversion of Miss Mayo from a prickly cactus to the exotic flower which the cactus produces.

Off Broadway is at 3rd and F sts. in San Diego. "Cactus Flower" plays through Aug. 6. MG PROMOTION — Verna Halpain, 8926 Delrose Apt. 5, in Spring Valley, local area manager for Studio Girl-Hollywood, Inc., has recently received special appointment as an Associate Training Director for the cosmetic organization.

In her new capacity, Mrs. Halpain is responsible for sales growth and customer relations for Studio Girl-Hollywood, Inc., an international direct selling organization with headquarters in Palm Desert, California.

Not far from the Summer White House in San Clemente, the new high command of the San Diego Chargers assembled last week at the University of California at Irvine.

To plan successful fall campaigns is a mutual concern. Beginning his first full year as commander in chief of the Chargers, Harland Sware welcomed some 30 rookie and free agent players on Wednesday, the official camp opening.

The rookies were joined by 50 veterans on Sunday. One rookie, defensive end Pete Lazzich from Stanford, is excused. San Diego's No. 2 draft pick is a member of the College All-Star team, which faces the Dallas Cowboys in Chicago on July 28.

Sware is ready to charge. "I'm ready, and I believe that our players, our coaches and everyone with the organization is rested, geared up and anxious to get along."

Sware plans a "get going" type of training camp for his athletes. "We have to be in physical condition to match our tough schedule," he declared. "The conditioning will involve a lot of running, a lot of hitting and a lot of fundamentals."

Assisting Sware will be an all-new San Diego staff of Bob Schnelker, head offense; George Dickson, offensive backs; Forrest Gregg, offensive line; Walt Yowarsky, defensive line; Rick Redman, linebacker; Willie Wood, defensive backs; and Ron Walker, special teams. Redman is a player coach.

Rookies took physicals and checked out equipment Wednesday. Two-a-day workouts began Thursday. Rookies held a scrimmage on Sunday. Full team intrasquad scrimmages are scheduled for Saturday, July 22, and Wednesday, July 26.

A scrimmage against the Los Angeles Rams will be held on Saturday, July 29, at the UCI Stadium as a benefit for the UCI athletic scholarship fund. It will coincide with the annual "Day at Camp" of the Charger Backers.

The Rams also are a pre-season opponent for the Chargers on Saturday night, Sept. 2, at San Diego Stadium. San Diego's pre-season opener against the Atlanta Falcons is at home on Saturday night, Aug. 5.

LG Company Awarded Traffic Signal Contract

U.C.S.D. Has 400 Workers

If you want, you can hire the nearly 400 students listed with the Student Employment Office at the University of California, San Diego for less than $800 for one hour.

If you don't need that many workers, you can hire any one of them for just about any job you can think of for about $2 an hour. Babysitters work for even less, according to Judy Manternach, Assistant Dean of Student Affairs, in charge of student employment at UCSD.

In Past years the office has filled a variety of off-beat and exotic employment needs including bookbinding, cosmology, ranch hand, archaeological digger, and taxidermist. In addition, it has also placed students as night watchmen, waitresses, painters, mechanics, and chauffeurs.

"This year we have no lack of students needing summer work who can do the more ordinary type jobs," Miss Manternach said. "Many of our students have experience as translators, typists, and file clerks."

The office can also supply dishwashers, bartenders, life guards, and entertainers. Tutors for varied subjects are available to help at any level.

Miss Manternach said that most of the students who contact her office for aid in finding summer employment depend upon the jobs to help pay for the cost of their education during the coming school year.

Anyone interested in listing job opportunities with UCSD should call the Student Employment Office at 453-2000, extension 1936. The office is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Confusion Cited In Off-Road Registration

With the registration of 9,850 off-highway vehicles during the first two weeks since a new state law took effect, two misunderstandings have appeared, Director of Motor Vehicles Robert Cozens said.

"When we say that owners must 'bring' their trail bikes, dune buggies and mini-bikes to our offices," Cozens said, "that means loading them in trucks or onto trailers. Off-highway vehicles which are not licensed for street use must be transported, not driven. Anyone who operates an unlicensed motor vehicle on public roads leaves himself open to citation by the California Highway Patrol."

Most vehicles not previously registered must be brought in to local DMV offices for checking of frame serial numbers. If a vehicle lacks such a number, it is assigned one at the DMV office. The purpose is to aid the property owner by providing a means of checking stolen vehicles or parts.

The second major misunderstanding, Cozens said, is many people's belief that they must double-register vehicles they intend to use off-highway.

"The law does not require owners to obtain both street and off-highway registration," Cozens explained. "They may take their choice, depending on how and where they intend to operate their vehicles."

"Any motorcycle, for example, which has the necessary equipment and is licensed for use on the highway is automatically entitled to use public lands without further registration fee."

Ecology Corps Marks Birthday

July 1 marked the first anniversary of the California Ecology Corps, the unique environmental protection force Governor Ronald Reagan created.

The corps has grown from a three-center operation with a handful of corpsmen to five centers housing approximately 300 corpsmen.

And, said State Director of Conservation James G. Stearns, "The California Ecology Corps has far exceeded our most optimistic expectations."

Corpsmen normally perform a variety of conservation-related work and are on stand-by duty for wildland fire fighting. Unfortunately, according to predictions, this summer may pose a critical fire situation for the State Division of Forestry and other fire agencies. Consequently, corpsmen — who work under the guidance of the division — can probably expect to gain considerable experience fighting fires, Director Stearns said.

July 1 was also an important date to the corpsmen; their base pay goes from $40 to approximately $100 per month. They also receive food, shelter, clothing, and other necessities.

CATFISHING is excellent at Lake Morena County Park, near Campo. No limit on size or numbers caught is to reduce catfish allowing bass and bluegill to repopulate the lake. An alternate method, poisoning the lake, was rejected to give San Diego County residents the fun of fishing it out. The lake is open on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday of each week. Fishing is free. Campsites may be reserved by calling 239-PARK.

College OK's Budget Hike

A $10.6 million 1972-73 publication budget was passed Monday night by trustees of the Grossmont Community College District.

The budget, which includes an expected tax rate increase of 14 cents, is up from last year's $9.9 million document.

The expected tax rate for the new fiscal year will be 72.3 cents for operational expenses, and 89.3 cents overall, including permissive overrides, per $100 assessed valuation.

Included in the new budget are three new faculty posts and a 3.5 percent pay increase for district employees. The final adoption of the 1972-73 budget will be August 7, held in conjunction with a public hearing on the document.

Appeals Board To Hear Gripes On Assessments

Think your property assessment is unfair?

The County's Assessment Appeals Board conducts hearings on requests from property owners who think their property was assessed at a higher value than comparable property in a comparable location. Application forms for a hearing may be obtained in Room 306 of the County Administration Center, 1600 Pacific Highway, according to Mrs. Porter D. Cremans, Clerk of the Assessment Appeals Board.

Each application must be made by the person affected or his agent. Mrs. Cremans said if the agent is other than an attorney licensed to practice in California or certain family members, written authorization to so act must be filed with the application. She said applications for corporations must be filed by an officer of the corporation.

Mrs. Cremans explained that after an application is filed, she will notify the applicant of the date of the hearing to be held in the County Administration Center. Notice is at least 30 days before the hearing date, unless a shorter time is agreed to by the applicant and the Assessor.

Filings for assessment appeals may be made anytime before September 15.

Cranston Bill Would Protect News Sources

Senator Alan Cranston (D., Calif.) has introduced a bill that would block the federal government from forcing reporters to disclose their confidential sources.

Cranston said his bill would "fill a void" created by a recent Supreme Court decision and would give the news media and the press "the legal protection they need and should have to meet their responsibilities in a free and open society."

Cranston noted that the Court did not forbid the press from being granted this protection by statute. "The court merely found that the press does not have it by inherent right under the First Amendment," Cranston explained.

He pointed out that 14 states, including California, already afford the press this privilege and these laws are not affected by the Court decision.

Free Fishin' — No Limits

Poison Ruled Out As Method To Reduce Catfish at Morena

"Poison a San Diego County lake? Absolutely not," said Lloyd T. Lowrey, acting director of the County of San Diego's Department of Parks and Recreation, in response to one of several suggested methods of re-establishing bass fishing when the county took over the long-defunct recreational area at Lake Morena.

Poisoning of lakes, which kills unwanted fish and algae, has been used successfully in other parts of the country in retreating a lake to sport fishing use. After the lake has been "stripped" of unwanted life, it is re-stocked with bass and trout.

Lake poisoning has been used primarily for replenishing lakes ruined by carp, a large, easily-caught fish that is known for taking over lakes and reducing populations of algae-eating and sport fish.

The problem with Lake Morena centers around the heavy population of bullhead catfish, an easily-caught and good eating fish which has also reduced the bass population and promoted algae at the lake.

The lake, once a favorite of San Diego, had been neglected due to drought. Algae had infested the waters turning them into something akin to split pea soup, and the fish population had followed a predictable pattern changing from predominately bass to almost totally bullhead catfish.

But, with the county constructing a fishing-oriented park at the 3200-acre site near Campo, Lowrey decided to seek help from fisheries experts. As every home aquarium owner knows, an aerator helps keep the tank free of rank growths of algae, so a huge aerator is scheduled for installation later in the summer as soon as sufficient power er lines are brought in.

Chemists are now exploring ways of reducing the algae, too, without harming the fish. Next, the 'rough' fish had to be purged — that's when Lowrey balked at the suggestion of poison.

With thousands of fledgling fishermen flocking to local lakes every weekend to try to learn the art of outwitting the denizens of the deep, Lowrey thought that the easily-caught bullheads would provide youngsters with an incentive without peer.

California State Department of Fish and Game biologists agreed, after sampling the lake's population. The hundreds of thousands of catfish might be reduced sufficiently in three or four years of heavy fishing to allow the bass and bluegills to flourish once again.

With poison ruled out, Lowrey made one strict rule — that no fish could be thrown back as too small or because the fisherman had caught enough.

"Catch all you want, but keep all sizes. If you don't want them, then throw your extras in the trash barrels we've provided, but remember that they are a delicious frying fish," said Lowrey.

Although a fee is charged for overnight camping at the park, fishing is free. Boats are available for rent, too, but private boats are prohibited.

"To maximize fishing for the kids, we've kept the boat rental fees as low as we can. The $3 for a full day or $2 for a half day is as inexpensive a fee as can be found in Southern California," explained Lowrey. The park is presently open Friday, Saturday, and Sunday of each week plus holiday Mondays.

Lowrey said fishermen report worms seem to be the best bait for the catfish. The catch has been averaging 3,000 to 3,500 fish each weekend with a few bass and bluegill showing up. No special tackle is necessary, but California State licensing laws are enforced.

Social Security Hike To Aid Over 2 Million In California

More than 2,390,000 Californians will benefit from the 20 percent increase in Social Security benefits which was signed into law last week, according to Senator Alan Cranston (D., Calif.)

Cranston, who is a member of the Senate Labor Subcommittee on Aging, co-sponsored the provision in the bill that authorized the across the board cost-of-living increase.

He noted that California beneficiaries include 1,850,000 elderly men and women who are 60 or over, plus some 540,000 younger persons who receive survivors' or disability benefits.

In San Diego there are 160,179 beneficiaries of old-age, survivors, disability and health insurance.

127,849 are 60 and older; 32,330 are under 60.

Cranston noted that by May of this year, the Consumer Price Index had risen 4.6 percent since January 1971, the date of the last Social Security increase.

"And items which especially affect the elderly rose at an even more accelerated rate," Cranston said.

"Property taxes during that same period rose by 14.3 percent nationwide, a development that was particularly hard on the 70 percent of the elderly who own their own homes," Cranston said.

"Food costs rose 5.9 percent, another blow to the elderly who spend an average of 27 percent of their budget on food as contrasted with 16 percent for the population as a whole."
